

FACULTY DEVELOPMENT PROGRAM

a component of the Higher Education Development Project

The Faculty Development Program (FDP) seeks to upgrade the academic qualifications of tertiary faculty to masters and doctorate degree levels. It is expected that through the FDP, the improved faculty qualifications and teaching methods will contribute directly to better student learning which in turn would translate into higher passing rates in professional licensure examinations and greater productivity of graduates.

The scholarship grants are for non-thesis masters programs to be undertaken on a full-time or part-time basis on campus or via distance learning. Faculty scholars shall be expected to continue teaching in their respective institutions. The FDP is a major component of the six-year Higher Education Development Project, a set of reform- oriented interventions aimed at improving the quality, equity, and efficiency of Philippine higher education.
